

Call for Nominations: 2017 Energy & Fuels Joint Award for Excellence in Publication

An award presented by the journal Energy & Fuels and the ACS Division of Energy & Fuels

The third annual Energy & Fuels Joint Award for Excellence in Publication will be held in 2017 to honor an outstanding article published in Energy & Fuels. The 2017 Energy & Fuels Excellence in Publication Award will be presented at the Fall 2017 ACS National Meeting in Washington, DC. The corresponding author of the winning article will receive $3000, plus travel and lodging costs up to $1500 to present an award lecture at the Fall 2017 ACS National Meeting.

Requirements for Nominated Article

Nomination is open to articles published within the journal Energy & Fuels within the 5 years prior to the award. Articles with Energy & Fuels editor(s) listed as authors are ineligible for the award.

Nominators should include:

- Name and affiliation of nominator
- Nominated article title and DOI
- Name, affiliation, and e-mail address of the corresponding author and any appropriate senior authors
- Brief statement (<500 words) describing article's significance

Deadline for nominations: November 30, 2016

Submit your nomination at https://acspubs.formstack.com/forms/fall\_lectureship\_ef

The winner will be announced in early 2017 and the award will be presented at the Fall 2017 ACS National Meeting at a symposium featuring the award-winning article.