

CALL FOR PAPERS

Division of Fuel Chemistry
American Chemical Society Symposium

Advances in Nanomaterials and Nanotechnology for Fuels and Energy Production

March 27-31, 2011, Anaheim, California
241st ACS National Meeting & Exposition
Nanomaterials and Nanotechnology in Fuels and Energy Production

The symposium features advances and new developments in nanomaterials and nanotechnology for fuels and energy production. Topics include, but are not limited, to:

- Nanomaterials for power generation and storage: supercapacitors, batteries and piezoelectric storage and power generation
- Nanomaterials for gas storage and fuel cells
- Nanomaterials for thermoelectrics and thermal management
- Nanomaterials and nanotechnology enabled fuel and energy production
- Carbon materials, Nanotubes and Nanoparticles

Submission of both an abstract and a preprint are required. You may do this on-line at:

<http://abstracts.acs.org>

(ACS PACS system is open for abstract submission from August 23, 2010 to October 18, 2010)
